

Clean Jobs for Pennsylvania

Friend,

Today, nuclear energy supporters from across Pennsylvania came together on the steps of the state capitol to speak out. While legislators continue to debate the future of nuclear energy, community members, supporters, and employees were outside, proudly telling Pennsylvania's leaders that it's time to act. Will you add your voice and tell your legislators that we need nuclear energy in the mix?

Clean Jobs for Pennsylvania supporters can't do it alone. We need you to tell your legislators that nuclear energy matters to you. If Harrisburg does not take action, local plants like Three Mile Island and Beaver Valley will prematurely close. That means $4.6 billion in additional annual costs for all Pennsylvanians. CJFP stood up today — will you take two minutes and stand with them?

We have until June 1 to tell our legislators we need their support. Help us make every moment count.
